Installation Kit

Until today, including what is indicated in the new IB XXL 2023 catalog in which the new 305 and 406 were introduced, it was not possible for those who selected these products to install the built-in body and only later the external parts.

We realized that this wasn't what was needed and would improve product selection for our customers.

A solution was needed. What is called "An egg of Columbus" was needed, that is, everything that seems impossible or complicated until someone proves that it is not.

Done.

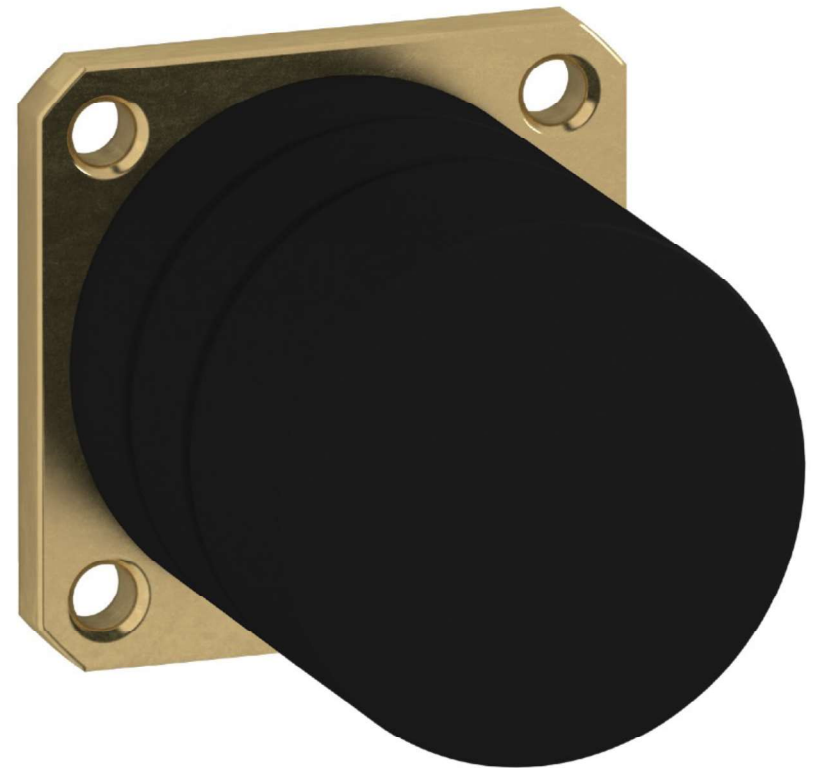

We have developed a simple kit that can be installed with the built-in body (INC206 or INC300) and around which to complete the wall.

When the time comes to install the external parts, this will be removed and it will be sufficient to install the cartridge with its finished ring.

Simple. Fast.

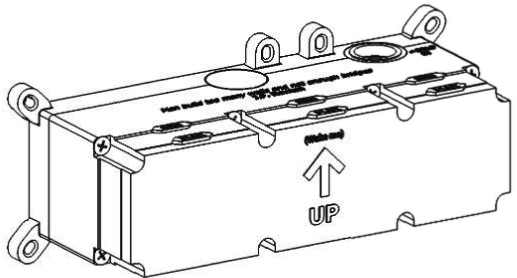

Our Egg of Columbus.

The instructions contained in each INC or external part have already been updated and simplify the installation of this kit.
